Description of Awards

Generous donors, through the St. Paul’s Foundation and the Tapestry Foundation, make these annual awards a reality. It is the donor who decides the allocation of the award and has agreed to the selection criteria. The details of the nomination and selection process have been determined through the Nursing Practice Councils and the annual awards are given during Nursing Week.

The awards are to be used toward attendance at an educational conference or ongoing educational program or tuition as selected by the recognized nurse.

The recipients of the 2015 awards for Outstanding Clinical Nursing practice will be published in the PHC Communications newsletter and on the Professional Practice & Nursing web page.

Purpose

The PHC Recognition Awards for Outstanding Clinical Nursing Practice provide an opportunity for nurses to identify and honour colleagues who are exemplary models of nursing practice. It is an occasion for nurses to publicly proclaim their pride in nursing by acknowledging exceptional “everyday” practice.

Definition of Outstanding Clinical Nursing Practice

Outstanding clinical nursing practice is demonstrated by a consistently exceptional level of performance in the specific areas of: clinical practice, interpersonal relationships/communication skills and role modelling.

Outstanding Advocacy is defined as advocacy, which resulted in a significant act(s) or specific decision(s) to benefit a PHC population of emphasis and that advocacy was the primary reason the significant action or decision was made.
